This new Carroll Gardens spot opened at the end of July. They are serving cuisine traditional to the Le Marche region, including signature dishes like Ascolana olives, fried tagliatelle, and a new take on lasagna, vincisgrassi, according to a release. They will also have cooking classes, led by co-owner and chef Elena Salati, as well as poetry readings and small concerts. Their Instagram shows photos of take-away salads and pastries, available to grab and go.
